

CPD Course presented by the Department of Architecture
University of the Free State in association with the Free State Institute of Architects

Starts : 10:00 on 12 February 2010
Ends : 14:00 on 13 February 2010

1 CPD credit (category 1)

Continuing Professional Development Course

CAMPUS PLANNING AND EDUCATIONAL BUILDINGS

Due to mergers, obsolescence and the need for renewal most campuses and educational buildings, both at school and tertiary levels, are increasingly becoming the subject of professional attention. This course is designed to review current trends in the design and execution of campuses and educational buildings in the light of the needs of architectural and other associated professions, client bodies, the construction industries and social and cultural demands. The scope is deliberately inclusive of urban design aspects of campus planning, its definition by individual buildings and theoretical premises underlying the design of educational buildings. Vigorous debate among academics, practising professionals in built environment, clients and end users is anticipated and so are constructive proposals for the future.

You are invited to attend this CPD course and enter the forum of this debate.

Please complete the attached registration form. Once payment has been made, fax your completed registration form and proof of payment to +27 (0)51 444 5108. Attendance is strictly on a first pay – first served basis. The organisers look forward to your attendance and participation